NURSING HOME CHARGES
(December 2007)

By Ms Low Tan Ling¹

INTRODUCTION

This supplement presents the charges for full-paying patients in Nursing Homes current as at December 2007. Subsidised patients are charged differently by Nursing Homes which admit them, based on the level of subsidy accorded to them.

TYPES OF NURSING HOMES

In Singapore, Nursing Homes are run by either the private sector or voluntary welfare sector (VWOs). Patients who are found eligible for MOH subsidies are placed by Integrated Care Services (ICS)² into VWOs, and selected private nursing homes under the MOH portable subsidy scheme. Patients who are not eligible for subsidies i.e. full-paying patients, can admit themselves into any nursing home, which we classify into one of four types below:

Private Nursing Homes

- a) Private Nursing Homes (which are not under the MOH portable subsidy scheme)
These are Private Nursing Homes, which cater to full-paying patients.
- b) Private Nursing Homes which are under MOH portable subsidy scheme.
These Private Nursing Homes cater to full-paying patients but have set aside some of their beds to be used by patients who are eligible for MOH subsidies and placed by Integrated Care Services (ICS).

Voluntary Welfare Organisation (VWO) Nursing Homes

- a) VWO Nursing Homes that do not receive MOH subsidies
Some VWO-operated Nursing Homes do not receive MOH subsidies, but are self-funded through their own fund-raising. The VWOs are able to provide the necessary financial and social assistance to patients who are unable to afford the Nursing Home fees.

¹ Ms Low Tan Ling is a Statistician with the Health Information Division, Health Care Performance Group, Ministry of Health.

² ICS serves as a centralised agency for the handling of referrals to step-down care facilities. More information on ICS and its services can be found at www.ics.com.sg.

b) VWO Nursing Homes receiving MOH subsidies

These Nursing Homes serves primarily patients who are eligible for MOH subsidies and placed by ICS.

UNDERSTANDING NURSING HOME CHARGES

Nursing homes typically structure their charges as follows:

- a) Monthly Ward Charges
- b) Deposits (i.e. Refundable and Non-refundable)
- c) Administrative Charges
- d) Items included/excluded in the Monthly Ward Charges.

To ensure 'like-for-like' comparison, the published charges are for full-paying (i.e. non-subsidised) patients in the Voluntary Welfare Organisation (VWO) and private nursing homes, and include Goods and Services Tax (GST).

With each nursing home, charges may vary according to bed-type (i.e. number of beds in the ward) and category of nursing care (i.e. Category I to IV, which provides an indication of the level of skilled nursing care required). Cat I patients require the least care, while Cat IV patients require the most care and they therefore incur higher charges.

Functional Status and Care Needs

The functional status and care needs of patients under the four nursing care "Category" (i.e. Cat I to IV) are shown in Table 1 below:

Table 1: Functional status and care needs of patients under different nursing care "Category"

CATEGORY	FUNCTIONAL STATUS/CARE NEEDS
Category I (least dependent)	Physically and mentally independent, may or may not use walking aids, do not need or need only minimal assistance in activities of daily living (ADL) ³
Category II	Semi-ambulant and/or mildly senile, requires some physical assistance and supervision in ADL
Category III	Wheel-chair bound and/or suffering from dementia, need help in ADL and supervision most of the time.
Category IV (most dependent)	Bedridden and require total assistance and supervision for every aspect of ADL.

³ Examples of activities of daily living that a patient may require assistance while in a Nursing Home include mobility, feeding, toileting, etc.
